Fourth Sunday in Ordinary Time Cycle A 2026.

In today's three readings we hear of God's preference for the nobodies of this world. The prophet Zephaniah speaks of the humble and the lowly, those who find refuge and shelter in the Lord. Paul warns the Christians at Corinth not to become puffed up with their own wisdom because God has a habit of choosing what is weak and foolish by human standards. He uses "those who are nothing at all to show up those who are everything." And Matthew gives us the great jewel of his Gospel – the beatitudes, which celebrate the little people whose lives illuminate the truth of the Gospel.

The beatitudes, at first sounds beautiful. On second thought it seems all wrong. And finally, it makes a lot of sense. The language that Jesus uses is eloquent, idealistic and inspiring. But if we listen carefully, we can see that it is opposed to several take-for-granted articles of commonly accepted, so-called wisdom. The way to be happy is to own as much as you can. Pain and suffering must be avoided at all costs from your life but don't worry about the pain of others. Always try to be in control of everything. Write off anyone who neglects you or doesn't appreciate you. Ignore anyone tries to insult you, don't get mad, get even.

Yes, it is true that for this world the beatitudes do not seem like blessings. The opposite of beatitudes is considered as blessings. Material benefits like wealth, power, position are considered blessings even though it is only for a short time and end with the grave; every joy from them finishes in body. It will not go beyond our body or grave. But the joy that comes from the beatitudes goes beyond body, it rests in much deeper level in one's life. Take the example of saints who accepted poverty in their life, suffering and received martyrdom, stood for the truth, faith and suffered – they all surprise us with their great inner joy. When people are controlled and moved by their emotions or needs of the flesh the beatitudes are meaningless. When we are guided by the inner spirit and soul the beatitudes are meaningful.

But taken another look at what Christ is saying and we realize, even from our own experience, how much sense He makes. Making money and owning stuff is nice but they don't guarantee contentment, conspicuous consumption can even eat us up. Pain and suffering are undesirable, but they are ultimately unavoidable; if we try too hard to avoid them, we may close ourselves off from all consolation.

Another fact that we need to consider is that these beatitudes are not merely ideas given by Jesus. They are the word of God empowered with the holy Spirit. Therefore, we could use it as great power in their life. We accept the beatitudes not as ideas given by Jesus but as power of God that can change our life and the life of the world. The best commentary on beatitudes is Jesus' own life. In His life, from nativity through public life and reaching at Calvary, especially, on the cross we see the full explanation of the beatitudes. From Bethlehem to Calvary, He was poor; we see poverty in its fullness on the cross where a naked man hanging on the cross in between heaven and earth. He is meek and peaceful and ready to show His mercy to the repentant thief offering forgiveness and paradise. He gave up power and prestige to follow powerlessness. Jesus has a habit of scandalizing the religious authorities with the readiness of His mercy and forgiveness. He is driven to make peace between God and humanity. In the end He is abused and persecuted in the cause of right and handed over to death. He ends up on another mount dying for what He believed in. But in all these Jesus is blessed: God raised Him on the third day.

From the mountain of beatitudes, Jesus calls us to look beyond the scandals to see the energy, the hope and the power of the kingdom are also at work in our world often in places and people we don't notice. These are the remnant of whom Zephaniah speaks in the first reading who are doing God's will and God's work every day. The beatitudes are not only important teaching, but it is the fullness of the life of Christ and life in Christ. They show the kingdom is not spiritual fantasy; but it is alive and growing around us and may be within us right now.

. To know the kingdom of God in our life we must be willing to leave behind the nets, the distorting entanglements of soul, heart and mind. They left their nets and followed the Lord. So, can we?

WHAT SHOULD I DO DURING LENT?

1. Give Something Up: Many Catholics “give up” something for the entire Lenten season. A classic example is giving up chocolate, but you don’t have to stop there! You could give up negative thinking, speaking poorly about others, or procrastinating. You could also make a positive swap: like praying the Rosary instead of watching TV, or reading an amazing Catholic book instead of scrolling through social media.
2. Join a Spiritual Challenge: One of the simplest ways to transform your Lent is to join other Catholics for a spiritual challenge. You could create a small challenge with your friends, sign up for a Bible study group.
3. Deepen Your Prayer: Catholics often will say special Lenten prayers. One of the most popular spiritual practices during Lent is the Stations of the Cross. The Stations of the Cross is one of the most simple, yet powerful, ways to prayerfully walk alongside Jesus during his Passion...and encounter him like never before.
4. Attend a Fish Fry: One delicious Catholic tradition is hosting a fish fry. Since Catholics don’t eat meat on Fridays during Lent, many parishes have a meal together on Fridays—often inviting the larger community to participate too. (Fish Fry is February 20th in Parish Life Center)

Our God loves fresh starts. How is he inviting you to a fresh start this Lent?

Come and join the Wednesday Bible Study group as they begin a new session on Wednesday, February 4th at 9:30 am. The study will be Edward Sri’s “Follow Me – Meeting Jesus in the Gospel of John. No registration is necessary.

Following Christ takes more than simply believing in him or doing what he asks of us. Jesus wants you to be more than just a believer—he wants you to be his disciple and friend. Follow Me: Meeting Jesus in the Gospel of John is your guide to a personal encounter with Christ. As the Good Shepherd, Jesus seeks us. He comes to meet us and beckons us to follow him. He calls us to be his disciples, to trust him, to open ourselves to his merciful love, and to love others as he has loved us. Follow Me invites you to experience the joy of a renewed friendship with Christ. In this study you will learn what it takes to follow Christ and discover the joy of divine friendship. You will see how God, and only God, can satisfy the deepest desires of your heart.

Monday Bible Study session is on Mary, Mother of God. We are only starting the second lesson, so please join us at 6:30 pm on Monday evenings in the parish life center.

CANCELLED

Monday, February 2, 2026 1:00 PM.

January 31 – Feast Day of St. John Bosco

St. John Bosco was born on a poor farm near Turin, Italy in 1815. At the age of nine, he expressed the desire to become a priest.

The day before he entered the seminary, his mother, laying her hands on his shoulders as he stood robed in his clerical dress said: "To see you dressed in this manner fills my heart with joy. But remember that it is not the dress that gives honor to the state, but the practice of virtue. If at any time you come to doubt your vocation, I beseech you, lay it aside at once. I would rather have a poor peasant for my son than a negligent priest. When you came into the world I consecrated you to Our Lady, when you began to study, I bade you honor her and have recourse to her in all your difficulties; now I beg you to take her for your Queen."

He founded the Salesian Society of St. Francis de Sales and the Daughters of Mary Help of Christians. His life's work was consecrated to the care of young boys and girls. He died in 1888 and was canonized by Pope Pius XI in 1934.

Prayer: God of mercy, You called St. John Bosco to be a father and teacher to the young. Grant that inspired by his ardent charity we may serve You alone and never tire of bringing others to Your kingdom.
